

ranges will be evaluated as a possible alternative in development of the draft PEIS.

CERCLA Process

The implementation of the CERCLA process at closed, transferred, and transferring ranges will also be initially considered as a potential alternative in development of the draft PEIS. CERCLA provides for the identification, evaluation, and response to hazardous substances and constituents released to the environment. CERCLA, as well as the National Contingency Plan (NCP) and Executive Order 12580, identifies DoD as the lead agency with respect to release from its facilities. Other federal agencies have been delegated similar CERCLA authorities in E.O. 12580 in connection with facilities under their jurisdiction, custody, or control. With respect to the application of CERCLA to closed, transferred, and transferring ranges, DoD has identified some initial concerns. For example, confusion exists as to the extent of EPA's response authority, and the application of state applicable or relevant and appropriate requirements (ARARs).

The Formerly Utilized Defense Sites Program

The FUDS Program was initiated to respond to lands once owned by DoD that are now owned by other government agencies or private interests. The DoD retains responsibility for the response to expended ordnance and explosive waste on these lands. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is the DoD Executive Agent for response actions on FUDS. The Corps' policy has been to consider all FUDS ordnance response to be CERCLA actions and use interim DoD Defense Environmental Restoration Program guidance to develop an appropriate response action.

Public Participation

This notice initiates a period of public scoping that is intended to invite the participation of all interested members of the public, as well as other public agencies. Comments received during the scoping period will be used to assist the DoD in identifying significant issues of public concern regarding potential impacts on the quality of the human environment. The scoping will also assist the Department of Defense in developing a reasonable range of alternatives for consideration in the draft PEIS. The draft PEIS will be published and made available for public review and comment prior to its finalization. After review of the draft PEIS, the DoD will address public comments in a final PEIS that will be published prior to publication of a Record of Decision (ROD). The ROD will identify the action chosen for implementation based on those alternatives considered in the PEIS.

DATES: Written and oral comments on the proposed scope of the DoD Range Rule PEIS are invited from the public. Comments will help to identify issues of concern and to assist in development of alternatives considered in the PEIS. To ensure consideration, comments must be postmarked not later than August 13, 1997. An extension may be provided upon written request to the extent practicable.
